1. Military traffic on the Liuchou (109-16, 24-18) - Nanning (108-18, 22-48) highway has increased greatly since early December. Daily traffic numbers between 80 and 100 heavy trucks.
2. Since guerrilla action frequently cuts this highway, Kwangsi Military District authorities have ordered garrisoned fortifications built along the route. The forts are most numerous between Pinyang (108-44, 23-18) and Nanning.
3. Troops numbering 20,000 men of an unidentified army arrived in Liuchou on 10 December 1950 via the Hunan-Kwangsi railroad. Passenger traffic was suspended and railroad cars commandeered for troop transport between 10 - 13 December, but the troops were still in Liuchou on 14 December. They are believed destined for the Indochinese border. Most officers and men speak a Northeast dialect.
